RBL 06/09/2000

Feldman, Louis H.

Studies in Josephus' Rewritten Bible

Supplements to the Journal for the Study of Judaism 58

Dale C. Allison
Pittsburgh Theological Seminary
Pittsburgh, PA 15206

Subjoined to the studies is a conclusion that helpfully lists 39 factors that influenced Josephus in his rewriting of the Bible (non-Jewish audience, respect for prophets, regard for the temple, concern to show that the biblical heroes are fully comparable to pagan heroes, etc.). The volume ends with a list of abbreviations, a bibliography, indices of ancient texts, an index of names and subjects, an index of Greek, Latin, Hebrew, and Aramaic words, and an index of modern scholars.